Style Icon: The 2021 Porsche 911 Targa

The first Porsche 911, the Targa 2.0, first rolled off the assembly line in 1965. It came with a detachable roof and became an icon of style. It offered the best of two worlds with the safety and comfort of a Coupe combined with the luxurious elegance of a cabriolet. Looking back it's easy to see that it was a true trailblazer in its own right.

The new trio of sports cars has been completed by Porsche just before the start of summer with the third body style out in full force. Moving on from the Cabriolet and the Coupe, the new 911 Targa 4S and the 911 Targa 4 models continue to boast many of the innovative features originally found in the 1965 Targa model. These features include the legendary automatic roof system, a roof section that can be moved just above the front seats and a wide roll hoop. There is also a classic rear window that wraps around and it only takes 19 seconds to open and close the roof.

The new Porsche models have brought us into a new dimension with acceleration speeds even faster than they used to be with acceleration speeds for the 911 Targa 4S going from zero to 100 km/hour in only 3.6 seconds and the 911 Targa 4 reaching the 100 km/hour mark in 4.2 seconds - with the Sport Chrono optional package installed.

Both new models come with turbocharged 6-cylinder, 3-litre boxer engines to provide ultimate performance along with everyday usability.

The chassis has been optimized to provide more safety and comfort and better traction can be expected due to the all-wheel drive functionality. Driving, handling and comfort is superior with adjustments made automatically for different driving situations. There are also two maps - Sport and Normal - that can be adjusted manually. These, along with other driving features, provides the ultimate responsiveness for various driving conditions to provide maximum stability.

The design of the exterior has many of the same elements found in the 992 generation models. The new 911 Targa, however, comes with wheel housings that are much more pronounced at the front and the hood displays a recess that is very distinctive. The outer skin has been made of aluminum, with an impressive style that is highlighted with a wider rear spoiler and integrated light bar.

The new Porsche 911 Targa 4 and 911 Targa 4S models have been built on the legacy that was first introduced in 1965. Find out more about these legendary new models today by giving us a call at 905-825-4530 or visiting our website to schedule a virtual or in-store appointment.

A brief history of Porsche Design timepieces

Porsche is renowned the world over for its combination of bold aesthetics and spectacular mechanical design, and not just for its automobiles.

For nearly half a century, Porsche has also been producing some of the most covetable timepieces on the market under the Porsche Design umbrella. Founded in 1972 by Ferdinand Alexander Porsche, the son of Porsche's founder, Porsche Design continues to infuse Porsche DNA into lifestyle products including but not limited to timepieces.

After birthing arguably the brand's most iconic automobile, the Porsche 911, F.A. Porsche struck out from the company to form Porsche Design. The sub-brand's first product was a wristwatch: the iconic Chronograph 1.

As the first fully matte black watch, from strap to casing, designed for optimal readability, the Chronograph 1 took after the dashboards of Porsche's sportscars and quickly found its way onto the arms of some of the racing world's as well as Hollywood's most notable figures.

Some 50 years later and Porsche Design continues the tradition of repackaging its vehicles' features into gorgeous form-meets-function watches.

While there are literally dozens of Porsche Design wristwatches available in 2020, here are two standout timepieces to consider:

Porsche Design Chronograph 911 Turbo S - Available

exclusively to future owners of the 911 Turbo S Exclusive Series sports car, and limited to a run of 500 individually marked pieces, the Porsche Design Chronograph 911 Turbo S is as customizable as the car itself, featuring a winding rotor that mirrors the wheels in a wide variety of colours and trims. The perfect accessory for the new Porsche 911 Turbo S.

Porsche Design Chronograph 911 Speedster - To celebrate the brand's recent 70th anniversary, Porsche released the new 911 Speedster, which marries retro looks with modern design. To further commemorate the milestone, Porsche Design created a pair of chronographs (the 911 Speedster and the 911 Speedster Heritage Design) exclusively for those who would pilot the new 911 Speedster. The Porsche Design Chronograph 911 Speedster boasts many of the design features present in the car, such as dials that reveal the heritage of the instrument cluster and tachometer of the sports car, as well as a winding rotor colour-coordinated with the car itself. There are only 1,948 units in total, reflecting the year Porsche was founded, each engraved with the limited edition number of the car it's paired with.
